TEE UP AND ROCK OUT

Imagine swinging sticks at an 18-hole, par 72, 6,700-yard championship green. Now imagine that same course designed by famed American architect, Joe Finger and place it along a backdrop of warm sun and tantalizing tropical view. Put it together and you've arrived at the Marina Vallarta Club de Golf. With an unparalleled facility set among lush vegetation, a natural lagoon, and scattered with Pacific wildlife, this course offers the complete golfing experience.

Then, take things to a whole new level and visit the impeccably designed Jack Nicklaus course at Vista Vallarta Club de Golf. Boasting an impressive Par-5 challenge, it's no surprise why the PGA NEC Invitational is played here with a 7,705-yard course and plenty of style to spare.

But that's not all. Also hosted and the Vista Vallarta Club de Golf is a course designed by Tom Weiskopf complete with a stellar resume of powerful jungle growth and a signature Par-3 that looks as though it's carved from the wild hillside itself. So take a swing and tee up while your rock out.

Green fees at both courses include 18 holes with a shared cart, range balls, and all taxes.

Tee times are available after 10:30am in high season (November 1st - April 30th) and after 9:30am in low season (May 1st - October 31st).
